Instructions: Use LaTeX to typeset a document containing each component described below. Turn in your lab by emailing it to jamesju@mnstate.edu or by uploading it to the appropriate assignment folder on the course D2L page. You should email both your raw TeX (.tex) file and your compiled document (in either .ps or .pdf form). Make sure that your name appears somewhere in your file name. You will be graded on both your raw TeX code and the accuracy of your compiled document.

Don't forget to include a title block similar to the one you did for your previous labs.

- Set up the page layout and add a Title Block as you did in your previous two labs.

- Call both the "hyperref" and the "multicol" package. Then, add a hyperlink to your document that links to a web page of your choice (please keep it PG).

- Typeset each of the following. Pay attention to the exact symbols used in each example. Some will require you to redefine the enumeration or itemize symbol used, and some will require multicolumns.

- Please note that this lab has two pages of content.

- The following text was created using multicolumn inside an itemize environment. Notice that the itemization label has been changed. The wasysym package was used to get the quarter note symbol used, so you will need to load this package and figure out the relevant command to use.

♩ rock	♩ groove	♩ dance
♩ roll	♩ shake it	♩ bust a move
♩ boogie	♩ cut a rug	♩ hoedown
