One-Semester Enrollment in the School of Business

Students who are in the process of completing the requirements for admission to the School of Business may apply for one-semester enrollment privileges to take upper-level School of Business courses. One-Semester enrollment privileges require a student-initiated application and approval of the student's academic advisor. Students who have been granted one-semester enrollment privileges are permitted to take upper-level business courses for one academic term (Fall, Spring, or Summer) while completing their admission requirements. This privilege will be granted only once. Students with one-semester enrollment privileges must meet all the requirements for admission prior to registering for classes in the next academic term; they will not be allowed to enroll in any upper-level School of Business courses until admission is approved.
