

COMPLEAT FEMALE STAGE BEAUTY

(REGIONAL PREMIERE)

FEBRUARY
25-28

In 1661 the most famous portrayer of females on the London stage was Kynaston. Like every other player permitted to enact such roles, Kynaston was a man. But when an unknown named Margaret Hughes plays Desdemona one night at an illegal theater, the ever-game King Charles II changes the law to allow women to act. Kynaston's world is turned upside-down, until fate gives him a chance to take the stage again.

For tickets call the MSUM Box Office at 218-477-2271. M-F 12:00 p.m. – 4 p.m. and 90 minutes prior to curtain.