Dr. Geraldine M. Hendrix-Sloan Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice sloan@mnstate.edu Holmquist 147 A 218-477-2037 (office) www.mnstate.edu/sloan Office Hours: Tuesdays: 9:00-4:00 Wednesdays: 2:30-5:30 or by appointment

Course Description and Learning Objectives:

This course examines a variety of theoretical perspectives and empirical studies of juvenile delinquency. The primary focus of this course is to discuss sociological and criminological explanations for contemporary delinquent behavior. Also, the influence of family, peers, and social institutions on delinquent behavior will be explored, as well as the development of the concepts of juvenile delinquency and adolescence.

Students should be able to: (1) demonstrate a general understanding of theoretical explanations of juvenile delinquency; (2) develop and use critical thinking skills necessary to analyze contemporary delinquent behavior; and (3) discuss their own perspectives of delinquency in relationship to social scientific research and data.

Required Text:

Class Participation (100 points):

You will be given the opportunity to earn 100 points through in-class activities, response essays to films and/or guest lectures, and quizzes.

Current Events Assignment (100 points):

Ten Fridays are specified in the Course Schedule as current event discussion days. On these days you are required to come to class prepared with a 1-page, typed summary of a current event that relates to the readings for the week. We will use your examples as the basis for class discussion. You can earn up to 10 points for each summary. No late summaries will be accepted without excused absence.

MSUM Academic Honesty Policy: "In academic work, students are expected to present original ideas and give credit for the ideas of others... When an instructor has convincing evidence of cheating or plagiarism, the following actions may be taken: assign a failing grade for the course...or report the offense, the evidence, and their action to the Dean of their college or the VP for Academic Affairs" (MSUM Student Handbook, 2008).

^{*} You will be required to read additional articles as assigned during this course. Each article will be made available to you via electronic reserve, library databases, or email attachments. Please let me know if you have trouble obtaining a copy of the text or readings.

Exams (200 points):

Two exams (100 points each) will be given during the semester: midterm and final exam (see course schedule for dates). An in-class review session will precede each exam, and each exam will be given during class time. Make-up essay exams will be given to students who have excused absences on test days.

Excused Absences:

In order for any absence to be considered excused, I will need verification of the emergency or special circumstance (i.e. doctor's excuse, funeral listing).
